Step 1: Assemble your materials

To make your own version of Psychic Fish you will need
- A4 white card - we recommend between 150 – 200gsm
- A colour printer
- Psychic Fish - available from party shops and online retailers as "Fortune Teller/ Telling Fish"

Step 2: Write your own 'reads'

The psychic fish will tell people what they think about fish; do you want them to see reads that they identify with, or reads that challenge them? Think about playful responses that link to your research and the conversations you want to start, or feel free to use ours. To edit, simply click in the boxes and type or copy and paste.

Step 3: Add more information about you and your work

Text 1, 2, 3 are paragraphs that will appear inside your card. Use them to tell people a little more about yourself and your research, and provide your contact details.

Step 4: Print and fold your cards

Cut and fold your cards so the 'reads' are on the inside, see below. Pop a fortune telling fish into each folded card.

Step 5: Invite people to find out what they think about fish

Go somewhere public. Ask a stranger if they've ever thought about how they feel about fish. Introduce yourself, hand them a card and find out together. Use their response to start a conversation about your work.

Step 6: Let us know how it goes

Please let us know how it goes or send us a link to your work. You can email us @ AnimalResearchNexus@exeter.ac.uk or tweet us @AnimalResNexus #DIYpsychicfish.

Moving head	....	You KNOW fish
Moving tail	....	Alive but do not feel
Moving head & tail	....	Delicious!
Curling sides	....	Feels pleasure but not pain
Turns over	....	Undecided
Motionless	....	You feel nothing, they feel nothing
Curls up entirely	....	Fully sentient beings

How do you feel about fish?

We're asking this question because we think that the way people feel about animals shapes how animal welfare legislation is designed and implemented.

TEXT 2

Our research focuses on the growing use of fish in animal experiments in the UK, and the implications of this for animal care and welfare.
